

(March 31, 2025 — New York, NY) — Affirmation Arts is pleased to announce PRIMARY EXPOSURE, Fatherly Photography, a new group exhibition exploring the complex photographic relationship between fathers and their children. The exhibition is on view from April 22, 2025 and features an engaging selection of photographs from photographers Harry Callahan (1912-1999), Michael Chovan-Dalton (b.1967), Yoav Horesh (b. 1975), Jesse Lenz (b. 1988), Claudio Nolasco (b. 1981), Mark Steinmetz (b. 1961) and Dennis Santella (b. 1981) These intimate family moments, made into solid photographic works offer profound insight into the artistic thought processes of these photographers, providing rare access to quiet, private, contemplative moments that don't often appear in their work, books or exhibitions.

Are they capturing their experience as fathers, the way fatherhood has shifted their world? Or are they photographing their children's world—or perhaps even their own childhoods reflected back at them? In truth, they are capturing all of it, seeing, feeling, and understanding it all with greater depth, now that they are fathers.
From the exhibition text by Elinor Carucci.

Exhibition is on view 22nd April to 30 May 2025

Opening event: 26th of April, 2pm - 6pm.

Gallery hours M-F 10am-6pm, or by appointment.

Affirmation Arts

415 West 13th Street, 8th Floor

New York, NY 10014

212 925 0092