Photography by Rose Hartman. Meghan Body at Rick Wester Gallery-Also having dual exhibits at James Salamon & Affirmation Arts

AIPAD 2011 (the association of international photography art dealers), known as the premier photo show for museum-quality and vintage photos which opened this past Wednesday is wearing a more contemporary face this year. With 79 international galleries to choose from (and panel discussions), photo lovers will not be disappointed.

Especially exciting are the allegorical photos of Meghan Body who is showing at Affirmation Arts, Layla Love at Eric Franck's London gallery, and endless treasures shown at the 67th St Park Avenue Armory. The exhibit runs through Sunday.
